-- The MAILING DATE of this communication appears on the cover sheet with the correspondence address --
Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) OR THIRTY (30) DAYS, WHICHEVER IS LONGER, FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133). Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

Status

- 1) ☐ Responsive to communication(s) filed on ____.
- 2a) ☐ This action is FINAL. 2b) ☒ This action is non-final.
- 3) ☐ Since this application is in condition for allowance except for formal matters, prosecution as to the merits is closed in accordance with the practice under Ex parte Quayle, 1935 C.D. 11, 453 O.G. 213.

DETAILED ACTION

Priority

1. Receipt is acknowledged of papers submitted under 35 U.S.C. 119(a)-(d), which papers have been placed of record in the file.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

3. Claims 1-3, 9, and 10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Gaus et al. (US Patent 6,527,327).

Re claim 1, Gaus et al. discloses a rest (2) for use in a vehicle comprising a housing having a sloping upper face (14) and means (9) for adjusting the position of the housing relative to the vehicle.

Re claim 2, the housing defines a storage space (19) and has a pivotal lid (14) which provides the sloping upper face and may be pivoted between an open position (shown in figure 5) allowing access to the storage space and support for the calves of a user (shown in figure 4) and a closed position in which the storage space is closed off.

Re claim 3, the lid is powered (the base 9 is powered and move the lid along with the rest of the device).

Re claim 9, in which the lid is motorized (the base 9 is powered and move the lid along with the rest of the device).

Re claim 10, the device is mounted in a vehicle (see figure 4).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. Claims 4-6, 11, 12, 13, 16, and 19 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Gaus et al. (US Patent 6,527,327) in view of Holweg et al. (4,275,914).

Gaus discloses all the limitations of the claims, as applied above, except for the a motorized rack and pinion arrangement, the arrangement operative to move the housing on a pair of rails adapted to be fixed to the floor of the vehicle, and an electric motor.

Holweg et al. teaches a motorized rack and pinion arrangement (25, 24), the arrangement operative to move a device on a pair of rails adapted to be fixed to the floor of a vehicle, and an electric motor (16).

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have provided the footrest of Gaus with a motorized rack and pinion arrangement, the arrangement operative to move the housing on a pair of rails adapted to be fixed to the floor of the vehicle, and an electric motor, because the technique of providing a powered system for moving a vehicle appurtenance is well known to one of ordinary skill in the art and applying the technique taught by Holweg et al. to the device of Gaus et al. does no more than yielding the predictable result of allowing the footrest to be further adjusted for passenger comfort.

Gaus et al. and Holweg et al. do not disclose a layer of carpet on the sloping upper face.

The examiner takes Official Notice that the use of carpet in vehicles is old and well known in the art.

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify a sloping upper surface of a foot rest, such as that disclosed above, to have a layer of carpet, as is old and well known in the art, in order to finish the device in aesthetically pleasing way that matches the floor of a vehicle in which the footrest is used.

6. Claims 7, 8, 14, 15, 17, and 18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Gaus et al. (US Patent 6,527,327).

Gaus et al. does not disclose a layer of carpet on the sloping upper face.

The examiner takes Official Notice that the use of carpet in vehicles is old and well known in the art.

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify a sloping upper surface of a foot rest, such as that disclosed by Gaus et al., to have a layer of carpet, as is old and well known in the art, in order to finish the device in aesthetically pleasing way that matches the floor of a vehicle in which the footrest is used.

Conclusion

7. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. The cited references all disclose foot rests.
